THE DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Editor.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1865.

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For six months, - - - - -	$5,00
For one month - - - - -	1,00
" two months - - - - -	2,00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The scarcity of money however, obliges us to say to our friends, that responsible and prompt persons who desire the Sentinel need not delay sending us their names at once, who can send us the Cash in a short time. The money may be sent us by the Rail Road Conductors or the Express Company.

North Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

This body will meet in Raleigh, on the 6th of December. Members and Delegates on their arrival in the City, will please call at the Exchange Hotel. Special conveyance for baggage will be at the Depot on Monday and Tuesday, December 4 and 5. We have room for all, but if any members of Conference do not expect to be present, we should be pleased to have notice thereof. B. CRAVEN.

The Terms of Reunion.

We repeat what we have frequently stated, the surrender of the South in the late contest, is unconditional. The government, the conqueror, must dictate the terms of the surrender. The authority to do this, is in the hands of the President of the United States. The people of the South have surrendered in good faith, with the firm purpose to abide the decision of President Johnson. They have confidence in the wisdom and the magnanimity of the Conqueror, and they throw themselves upon his generosity and his sense of right and justice.

Now the question is, what are the terms of surrender? The people of the South desire to know at once and specifically, what the government requires of them and of the States, in order to the restoration of its confidence and the rehabilitation of the States. We think we understand the temper and purposes of the South. We feel sure, we understand the real feelings and purposes of the people of North Carolina. We will be responsible as a hostage, if need be, for the faithful fulfilment of their pledges. When they declare their purpose to return to the Union, they mean to submit to the terms proposed, and they will act in good faith.

Let us see what has been demanded of them, and what they have done:

1st. They have subscribed to the oath of amnesty.

2d. They have submitted without irritation or resentment to the rule of military authority. In this State, the people highly appreciate the propriety and judiciousness with which it has been generally administered.

3rd. The Convention has abolished the ordinance of secession, declared it to be null now and always, and the people have sanctioned it.

4th. It abolished slavery or involuntary servitude now and forever, and the people have sustained it.

5th. It has provided for the codification of laws adapted to the new condition of the freedmen, which will be kind and just, and will look to the future welfare of the colored race. The Legislature will adopt such a code promptly and the people will approve it.

6. The government required the repudiation of the State war debt, which the Convention executed so soon as it was known to be the will of the government. Our people sanctioned the act as a condition of restoration, however much they detest the principle of repudiation.

7. The government now requires that the Legislature adopt the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

ARTICLE XIII.

SEC. 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SEC. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Approved February 1, 1865.

The Legislature of North Carolina will adopt the amendment, as a condition to reconstruction. The amendment has already secured the approval of enough of the States, to make it a part of the Constitution. The government however, demands it of the States recently in revolt, in order to make it doubly sure.

In the South, while our people readily acquiesce in the first paragraph above, many without consideration will hastily object to the latter paragraph. We do not see the force of the objection. To our mind, the second paragraph, if it had any ulterior design beyond its legitimate construction, would be mere surplusage. Has not Congress or the government already ample power to enforce every part and parcel of the Constitution? If the Constitution abolish slavery agreeably to the first paragraph, the power of Congress to enforce that paragraph is ample. Yet it might do more. It might assume to do what is not contemplated by the amendment. Hence the second clause limits its future action and confines it to "appropriate legislation" in enforcing what? Why simply, that "neither slavery nor involuntary servitude except as a punishment for crime," shall hereafter exist. The legislation which some fear to grow out of this clause, would be a violation of it, and if the Congress were disposed to attempt it, it would do so quite as soon without the second clause as with it. What the South has to fear most, is legislation by Congress which the language of the Constitution does not clearly allow, and not what it does.

So far then, it is clear that North Carolina has done and will do what the government requires in order to restoration. Our people are loyal and intend to be to the government.

The doubt expressed by disaffected and interested presses and people in this State, as to the loyalty of our people, is a libel upon the State and our people. Their statements are contradicted by the facts—are contradicted by the history of our people from the earliest period. We are ready to submit to the investigation and decision of all disinterested and unprejudiced minds, the question of our loyalty, to be judged of by those rules of evidence which obtain in our Courts, or which honest men everywhere admit to be conclusive.

The fact that our people by their votes on certain questions, give an opposite decision, in matters already fixed and decided by the government, is no test, no proof whatever of their disloyalty. This point we made sufficiently clear on yesterday.

Our people admit that by the terms of our surrender, the government can impose what terms it pleases, as a condition to our restoration, and that what it requiers must be done. They acquiesce truly and fully in the terms. But when you give them an election to say of their free will and choice, whether this or that measure shall be adopted by themselves as right, and best, and as meeting their views of what they would do, the character of the question is changed and becomes one of personal responsibility. As measures of the government they give evidence of their assent by their prompt obedience to them and ready acquiescence as a thing of necessity; but when left to their own free will and choice, they express precisely their judgment, as to whether they would have it so or otherwise. In this they mean no hostility to the government, but these matters being submitted to them at a free election, they of course express what they honestly believe would be best and not that they desire to change them or oppose the government.

The error lies in submitting anything to the judgment and decision of the people, what the government in advance determines is necessary and shall be done, in order to restoration and recognition. The people have assented to the terms—have appointed Conventions and Legislatures to do specifically and generally, what the Government requires to be done, in order to this end. Hence what the Conventions and Legislatures do in obedience to the will of the government ought to be final.

The Congress.

The polls were compared here on Thursday for the Fourth Congressional District. The Sheriff of Franklin failed to attend. That County gave Mr. Turner a majority of several hundred. That vote was not counted, yet Mr. Turner beats Mr. Russ in the District 426 votes!—Mr. Turner received 3,609 votes besides the Franklin vote. Mr. Russ 3,183, and Mr. Edwards 240. We will publish the official return when can obtain it.

In the Fifth District, Col. Brown beats Mr. Hanes 96 votes. There is but little room to crow over Mr. Hanes' defeat.

We have not official returns from the first District to judge how the vote is, but Dr. Speed or Mr. Stubbs is certainly elected.

Col. Walkup in the Sixth is elected and we judge Mr. Fuller is in the Third.

In the Mountain District, A H. Jones, Esq., we think is elected, though Col. Gaither gets a good vote.

NEWBERN TIMES.—We do not preserve a file of this paper, and have entirely forgotten in the midst of the pressure of other matters more engrossing, the point to which the Times refers. If it will state specifically wherein we have done it injustice, we will most cheerfully correct it, if we can be made sensible of it. We have no quarrel with our cotemporaries and will have none, except in those matters which concern the public interests. Merely personal differences or squibs, with us, are in at one ear and out at the other.

Official Vote for Governor.

North Carolina is Loyal.

MR. EDITOR:—We have had a tempestuous time; but are now again in a calm in North Carolina. Governor Holden's administration encountered no opposition. We all felt it our duty as part of the programme of restoration, to yield him our support as the accredited agent of the Federal Government. His administration would have met no formal opposition, but for the necessity of collaterally canvassing his acts, when he submitted to be Governor by the voice of the people. In his letter of acceptance, he expressly avows his confidence in the people as the source of all political power. His claims to an election were submitted voluntarily to their arbitrament, and as in the case of the whole South, as to the right of secession and slavery, it having been decided against us by the "arbitrament of war" we have, as gracefully as we could, submitted to the decision. So he in the small matter of Governorship of our State should follow our example, without complaint or grumbling. Governor Holden has never seen the day when he could have been elected by our people as Governor. The reason need not be stated here. He has often attached to him the leaders of the party with whom he was for the time acting. But the people, and no one knows it better than himself, have never been secured in his favor. He has been much more successful in winning their hearts for his friends, than for himself. He has succeeded in achieving greatness for others—but has utterly failed in his efforts to achieve his own, through the voice of the people. It will always be so. There was once a time when by means that we refrain from suggesting, he might have been popular. That day has long since passed. It will probably never return. There is a past which will always stare him in the face. The people have very retentive memories.

The election through which we have just passed and in which Gov. Holden was unsuccessful, should not be misunderstood nor misinterpreted. However it may be, and is, misinterpreted at home, it is not misunderstood. Abroad perhaps, by known and re-iterated falsehoods of unprincipled and unpatriotic men, a wrong impression may be created as to the general feeling in North Carolina. None will be more industrious in propagating these slanders than some of the unnatural sons of North Carolina, who would sacrifice their own mother to accomplish their own unworthy and selfish ends. North Carolina is loyal.—North Carolina wishes early restoration to the Union. North Carolina supports with all her energies the administration of Andrew Johnson; and strange, as it may seem, North Carolina will support the administration of W. W. Holden as long as he remains Provisional Governor. We know our duty too well to oppose him now. The hard things which have been said of him in the canvass, were invited by himself in submitting his claims to the people for investigation; but there is now an end of it. They will be said no more. We were asked to the feast, and accepted the invitation. But the feast is ended and the guests are dispersed. The feast was discussed, so were the antecedents of the Provisional Governor. But we are again at our several vocations—some to their farms—others to their merchandise. The Provisional Governor will meet with no more rebuffs and mortification, until he may again, with characteristic indiscretion, commit his case to the people. Then he may look out for squalls. He will during his continuance in office be strongly supported by all. We will do him and the country that justice. Let him do the people of North Carolina justice by assuring the President and Congress that the last election was by no means a test of loyalty or disloyalty.—Let him use the great influence that his position gives him, in disabusing the minds of our Northern friends of the false charges made by unlineal sons of our loyal old State. Let him say officially and personally, what he well knows in both capacities, that those who voted for Jonathan Worth are as true to their country and the Union as any men South of the Potomac. Let him rise above the chagrin which the defeat of a cherished wish might engender in small minds, and offer his State proudly as now the most loyal of those who were lately so rebellious. He may say so truly. Let him honor her, and himself, by saying it promptly. By acting with magnanimity, he may endear himself to the people to such a degree, that they may wish to forget the past, which has with such terrible effect risen up against him in the canvass just over. No man ever had a better opportunity to win golden opinions. Will his Excellency rise to the dignity of the occasion?

To the Local Ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in North Carolina.

Dear Brethren:—A Convention of Local Ministers met in the city of Raleigh, on the 26th of August 1864, for the purpose of interchanging sentiments and settling on such a line of policy, as would tend to improve and elevate this particular class of the Methodist ministers.

W. K. Lane was appointed President, L. Branson Secretary and W. H. Cuninggim, Treasurer of the Convention. This committee was appointed to correspond with the brethren, and call the Convention together again at the earliest favorable opportunity. In pursuance of this duty, we have found our colaborers generally zealous in doing good, and favorable to forming the Local Ministry into some kind of organization to meet annually or oftener, that we may thus mutually improve ourselves, and devise plans for more effectually working in our holy calling.

We now notify the Convention together with Local Ministers generally, to reassemble in the city of Raleigh on the 8th of December, during the meeting of the North Carolina annual Conference.

It is desirable to have a full meeting, as important matters will come before the body.

Ministers coming should write to the committee at Raleigh.

Destruction of St. George's Episcopal Church, New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—St. George's Episcopal Church, of which Dr. Tyng is pastor, corner of Sixteenth street and Seventeenth square, was destroyed by fire this afternoon. The loss by the destruction of this splendid church is estimated at $300,000, on which there is $70,000 insurance only. The walls and towers are standing.

The residence of Mr. Bull, Mr. Jackson and Dr. Drake, on Rutherford place, were badly damaged by fire and water.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says that it is generally understood that the President and his Cabinet have no intention of pressing the controversy regarding the Alabama claims. The same authority states that Minister Adams will retire next Spring.

NAMELESS: A NOVEL, BY FANNY MURDAUGH DOWNING.—Raleigh, W. B. Smith & Co.

We confess to a masculine dislike to ladies' novels. With a few brilliant exceptions, the gentler sex are accustomed to treat us in their writings, as they do their young children, and furnish us with pap, instead of adult intellectual food. It is really refreshing in this age of boarding-school literature, to find something very different from this, as in the work before us; which is evidently written by a lady, who to much talent and poetic grace, adds that great desideratum of all emotional writing:—having lived, felt and suffered what she so well portrays. The book, aside from some blemishes, incident to a first effort, is certainly a gem, and contains many passages of wonderful beauty and purity; yet, we cannot help thinking that with a little more attention to plot and probability, the author could have made it much better; and in the language of the honest Vicar of Wakefield, we must say that "the picture would have been better painted, if the painter had taken more pains."

The plot will remind the readers of Dickens of the Dedlock episode in "Bleak House." A beautiful and haughty lady marries a man much older than herself, from whom she has an ante-nuptial secret. Her French maid, from motives not very well defined, and her husband's nephew, from motives definite enough, seek to cause her ruin by the discovering of this secret. This part of the plot is managed very artistically and skilfully, and the reader is kept in almost painful doubt whether the lady's secret is a criminal one or not. We think in painting the character of Lady Haughton, Mrs. Downing has succeeded in giving us a much more womanly and natural creation than Dickens has in her counterpart, Lady Dedlock. The plot and denouement are very well managed, and only lack one thing to be perfect—sufficient motive.

The minor characters are mostly good. Sir Everard is a noble specimen of a true gentlemen. The little love episode of Lucy and Lord Chester is very pretty, only we think Lucy is rather too innocent. Mam'selle Felice is the traditional French maid, spiteful and revengeful, and Mr. Raleigh Osborne is not so jesuitical as the author would have us believe. We do not quite like the summary way in which Lord Colonna is introduced, only for the purpose of "letting daylight" through himself, but we suppose the author thought it necessary he should die, so he kills himself accordingly.

We have never been in a London Drawing room, but we suppose English society is described as well here as it usually is in novels. But why cannot the author, who writes so well, give us something which she must be much more conversant with—scenes and characters which shall be our own. Surely our American author has no need to cross the 'great herring pond" in search of scenes and incidents which can be much better found in our own country, than in the well-worn fields of Europe. Mrs. Downing is, we believe a Virginian. Cannot her own noble State furnish enough heroism and self-sacrifice to make a true American book, which would give her immortality?

We have given this book a notice somewhat different from the usual style of puffing, because we recognize in the author one who can, if she chooses, take the foremost rank in American literature, and we should be sorry to see her content with her present effort. Meanwhile we heartily commend the book for graceful thought and purity of sentiment, to all who desire an intellectual treat, different from the trash of the day. W.

Reported Trouble on the Canada Border--Troops sent to Maine.

The Hartford Courant of the 13th, in reference to this matter, says:

We heard, through a semi-official source last evening, that trouble was brewing on the Canada border, arising from the desertion of British soldiers. Our informant stated that a Lieutenant in her Majesty's army crossed with a company of marines from Canada into Maine, for the purpose of arresting several deserters. Upon their arrival on "neutral soil," the marines would not acknowledge the authority of their commanding officer, declaring themselves free, and refusing to return with him. Application was made to the United States authorities to have the men given up, which was refused, and it was stated there was danger of an outbreak. The authorities at Washington were advised, and Hancock's Corps was ordered to rendezvous in Maine. This is substantially the statement made to us. That there is a movement of troops is certain. The company attached to Hancock's Corps stationed in this city, received orders yesterday to report to Augusta, Maine, and seventy-two men, all of the company who were able to start, left here on the mail train last night.

NOTHING KNOWN AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Inquiry has been made respecting the rumor of trouble of a serious character on the Canadian border, but it does not seem that any verification of the report has yet reached the War Department.

From Tennessee--Destruction of a School-House.

Nashville, November 14.—The citizens of Tullahoma, who were actors in the destruction of the freedmen's schoolhouse some time since, were ordered by Major General Thomas to rebuild the same, but compliance with the order being refused, General Thomas sent a detachment of soldiers with directions to enforce the order, and put every citizen under guard until the requirement of the order should be complied with.

The Election in Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 10—The returns for Governor appear to be closer than was anticipated, and it is now thought that Robert M. Patton has been chosen over Colonel Bulger.

Patton is a Douglas Democrat, and has served as a member of the State Legislature for over twenty years.

In the Second Congressional District, George C. Freeman, a Major in the Confederate army, is reported elected, and Gen. Battle in the Third District. The latter had three opponents—a clergyman named Hamill, Capt. Ligon and Geo. F. Reese.

Owing to the want of proper facilities, reliable returns cannot be obtained as rapidly as could be wished.

Debt of Southern States.

A statement of the Southern State (legal) debts prior to the war, places them at one hundred and fifty millions. The most of these bonds are held in Europe, and the prospect of payment, even of the interest, is small indeed. Of these bonds, $20,000,000 belong to Mississippi, $9,000,000 to North Carolina, $5,500,000 to Louisiana and $56,000,000 to Virginia.

Two negroes were arrested in Norfolk on Sunday for stealing a trunk and $1,400 from the residence of W. H. Whitehurst on Friday night.

MARRIED,

On the 15th inst., at the residence of the bride's father in this City, by Rev. Dr. Craven, MAJ. W. H. MARTIN and MISS M. L. KIRKHAM.

On the 14th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Duncan, at the residence of the bride's father in Warren County, MISS. MARY S. TWITTY, to MR. JOHN W. PRIMROSE.

DIED,

In this City on Friday morning the 27th inst., after an illness of 17 days duration, MRS. JULIA A. BROMELL, wife of Joseph G. Bromel, and daughter of the late Robert Bathins, in the 39th year of her age, leaving a husband, four children, sister and brother to mourn their loss. The deceased had been a member of the M. E. Church, of Raleigh, for the last seven years. She was a native of New Kent County, Va., and has lived in this City since the year 1852. Truly may it be said of her "She looked well to the ways of her household." For the last six months, she has labored under great afflictions by reason of sickness in her family. Constantly watching over the sick bed of her children, and ceasing not her vigils by night or day, except for necessary sleep, her exhausted frame was unequal to the task of resisting the ravages of that most dreaded scourge of the human race, which closed her sufferings in death. Those little ones are now deprived of her christian watchcare, and will, we trust, yet live to "rise up and call her blessed. Kind and obliging almost to a fault, it may in truth be said, she was a faithful wife, a devoted mother, an affectionate sister and a good neighbor. She exercised a lively hope in Christ, and is doubtless gone to that gracious Redeemer whose light is now the present peace and eternal joy of her soul. Separated for some time past, by the vicissitudes of war, from her husband, he only returned to witness her death. May this present grievous affliction cause him to so live, that when he shall be called hence, he again may unite with her in the mansions of the blest.

"Dearest sister, thou hast left us
Here thy loss we deeply feel;
But 'tis God that hath bereft us:
He can all our sorrows heal"

Gov. Marvin and the Blacks.

The Provisional Governor of Florida, has been recently addressing the freedmen in Florida at several points. Recently he addressed at Marianna a large crowd. We give a brief synopsis and the conclusion of his speech, on account of the good scenes which pervades it and its amusing character.

Governor Marvin commenced by telling them that with the war that has just ended they had nothing to do—that it was a white man's war.—That the negro neither commenced it or ended it, and that although a few of their number were enlisted in the army, they took no decisive part in accomplishing the final result. He said:

If you ask me the question, whether the white man of the North or the white man of the South is your friend, I will answer you by saying that I hope and believe both of them are; but if it comes to a question of certainty as to which of the two is your better friend, I shall answer plainly and tell you, the white man of the South. I was born in the North, raised and educated there, but I have spent the last thirty years of my life in the South, and I consider myself capable of judging between the two people, particularly in reference to yourselves. I know the Northern man, or Yankee, as you call him, from the crown of his head to the sole of his foot, and I tell you to-day as your friend, that the Southern white man, with whom you were raised, and who is acquainted with your habits and customs, is the best friend you have.

He tells them that the question whether this freedom will prove a blessing to them by their advancement and civilization, or a curse involving vagabondism and ultimate destruction, depends upon themselves alone. He urges them to remain on the plantations—to make bargains with their former masters, if possible—to avoid cities, or hopes of bettering their condition by vagabondism—to be faithful to their contracts, and to rely upon the laws to vindicate their rights.

We copy the conclusion of Gov. Marvin's speech in extenso:

There has been a story circulated in Middle Florida that on the first of January next, the land, mules, &c., will be taken from your former owners and divided among you. Such a story, I suppose, you have all heard. Have you? Speak out. If you have, tell me so. ("Ise hearn it, Ise hearn it," said all.) Well, who told you so? (An answer: "The soldiers.")—What soldiers? These soldiers in town? ("No, sir, the Confederate soldiers.") Well, I spoke to the colored people in Quincy the other day, and they did not understand me. I have been sent here by the President to talk to you, and I tell you the truth; and if he had thought I would not tell the truth he would not have sent me. I talked to the white people yesterday, and I talk to you to-day, and I want you to understand me and believe what I say. The President will not give you one foot of land, nor a mule, nor cow, not even a knife and fork or spoon. [A voice, "Dar, old man, hear dat? dat's a bad egg! dat 'chicken won't hatch no how!"] He has given you your freedom, and that is everything he intends to give you, and that is enough, and some of you will understand me when I tell you why.

Before the war each of you was worth in dollars and cents to your owners, eight hundred or a thousand or fifteen hundred dollars—worth more than fifty acres of land and a mule thrown in. Well, the President has, in giving you your freedom, taken so many dollars and cents from your old masters, and he thinks, as I do, they have lost enough, and you by it had enough given to you. If he were to give you more it would prove a curse to you. God has directed the President how much to give you and he will give no more. God knows what is best for you. If you had so much land and so many mules given to you, it would be the ruin of you. You would be proud and say, "ha! ha! I have land now and a mule, and I am a gentleman, and I ain't agoing to work." Now I ask you if it is not so? Would'nt it make you proud and foolish, and would't it prove as I say? [Several voices: "Yes sir, it would."] Then it is best for you not to have it, and you must be contented by having your freedom, and what else you have you will have to get by work. And when you shall have made it by hard work, you will know how many days of hard toil it cost you to get it, and then you will rightly value it and take care of it.

You are now at liberty to go to work for yourselves, you have none other to work for. You belong now to no man; you have ceased to be property; you will never be sold again; and if you will struggle hard and do right, live as good men and women, and you will prosper; if not, you will suffer. You all look to be well fed, well clothed, healthy, strong, full of muscle and sinew, showing the kind treatment you have received, and you are well prepared to go to work for yourselves, and to develop the resources of the country.

I believe I have covered the whole ground, and said all that is necessary; if, however, I have left anything out, let me know what it is. Come up; you have a right to ask, so speak out. [Here a few unimportant questions were asked, which were satisfactorily answered.] Now, before I conclude, I wish to ask you are you satisfied? Are you? ("We are," by all.) Will you promise me to do the best you can, be kindly disposed to all, to be good men and women? ("We will.") God help you to do it!

After the Governor had concluded his speech the crowd gathered more closely around him, and many pressed him with questions. One tall fellow, ball-headed, and with a loud voice, approached, and the following questions and answers were listened to with great interest, and no little amusement by all.

Pomp.—"Gubner, I wants to ax you a question, sir."

Gov.—"Well, ask on."

Pomp.—"I has two wives. De fust one didn't do good by me no how—want no count nudder—didn't help me a bit—din't do nuffin for me, and I left her and fotched up wid anuder one.—Now, sir, which one I got to stick to?"

Gov.—"Which one do you love best?"

Pomp.—"I loves de one Ise wid now, Sir, de best."

Gov.—"Then live with her; have her for your wife, but you must live with her and her alone, and not, after awhile, get tired of her and then go off and get another—that won't do."

Pomp (with delight)—"Ah? ha! I said dat Yankee officer was wrong all de time. He don't Gubner, gib your scission; he says I must lib wid de one I got de most chillun by."

Gov.—"Well, you must support your children. I do not tell you that you are at liberty to desert your children under any circumstances; that will never do. Which wife have you the more children by?"

Pomp.—(sick)—"Lor, Gubner, ise got de most children by bofe, and now dey got me wusser dan I got dem."

FACTS TO BE CONSIDERED.

THERE ARE BUT FEW SUBJECTS PRESENTED to the mind of man upon which there are not a great variety of opinions, and about which there are not protracted discussions. But there are a few facts so well established, and so uncontrovertible that they are universally assented to. One is that all men now living, will soon be called upon to gather up their feet and depart to the land of the dead. "One generation goeth, and another cometh, and we have no abiding city here," is a matter about which there is no dispute. Another is, "Of that day, and of that hour, knoweth no man." Whether death cometh at the twelfth hour or at the cock crowing, is of equal uncertainty to all.

Another is, that when wife and children gather around us, to take their final leave, in that sad circle centers all our earthly interest. The last earthly rational thought of Husband and Father, is Wife and Children (if worthy of sustaining such endearing relations.) Another is, no man living knows what may be the result of his efforts to secure a competence for his family. "Riches take to themselves wings and fly away," has been realized by how many? adverse winds of to-morrow, may take the place of to-day's prosperous gales; under currents which the most penetrating eye cannot see, or the strongest arm control, may in an evil hour sweep away the hard earnings of years. Another is, no man ever has, or ever can assume more sacred obligations, than Husband and Father. Hence it is said, that he that will not provide for his own household is worse than an infidel.

Now, what Husband and Father is there battling with the difficulties of life, knowing as he must, that uncertainties attend every effort, and wait upon every enterprise, that he has not with earnest voice, and anxious heart, called to the future to unlock its barred gates and reveal to him the result of this or that undertaking. But the only voice that comes from that land of silence, is, "Verily, thou knowest not what shall be on the morrow."

Such are some of the few facts about which there is no controversy, and such are some of the uncertainties that ever have, and ever will, gather around our pathway through life, and which have in generations past, and will in generations to come, trouble and oppress the Husband and Father. Now in view of these facts, responsibilities, and uncertainties, it is for you to judge and decide upon the propriety, necessity, and duty, of making a policy on your life, for the benefit of your family. Will it not relieve you of your present anxiety to know that a certain portion of the fruits of you labors are secured to that family? Remember that whatever you pay for a life policy is paid to them. The stranger intermeddleth not with that.

Remember also, that $5000 paid to them in that day when the heart and flesh shall fail you, will be more to them, than $10,000 while you are here to provide for them. Also remember, that the amount for which you are insured will not be diminished in the settling of your estate, and that from generation to generation, Life Insurance has answered the end for which is was ordained, as fully, to say to the least, as any institution of man's creation, and that its primary object was, and still is, to secure the family against the stern realities of want, and to relieve from corroding anxiety those who have assumed family responsibilities.

Do you say "I know it would be wise in me to take out a policy and I intend to do so soon; but just now I want to use all my funds in my business."—Friend, if it is wisdom in you to insure at all, it is folly to defer it, to-morrow is in eternity, therefore "Boast not thyself of to morrow," "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." "Procrastination is the thief of time."

The Aetna Life Insurance Company offers you all the inducements to insure that can be found in any company. Its assets are over a million and a half. It has a surplus of $300,000 over and above what is required to reinsure all its policies. Its monthly receipts are over $150,000. And it is issuing monthly nearly 1000 policies. Its rates for insurance are as reasonable as those of any other well established responsible Company. It is paying as large dividends to its policy holders as any other Company. Its officers are competent business men. Its assets, are as permanently and as safely invested as any other company can invest theirs, and from which as good interest is being received. It pays its losses as promptly, is as particular in the character of its risks, and as yet it is a stranger to litigation.
